ABOUT OUR FOUNDATION

What is the purpose of the Foundation?

The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation is the only public charity dedicated exclusively to our profession, supporting nutrition and dietetics students and professionals by empowering them to help consumers live healthier lifestyles. We do this through our scholarships, awards, research, fellowships, public nutrition education programs and disaster relief efforts that make an impact on thousands of Academy members each year. Our Foundation is a catalyst for the profession to come together and collaborate to address the greatest food and nutrition challenges now and in the future.

The Foundation's Mission:

Through philanthropy, empower current and future food and nutrition practitioners to optimize global health.

The Foundation's Vision:

A world where all people thrive through the transformative power of food and nutrition.

How is the Foundation separate from the Academy?

Our Foundation is a separate organization from the Academy, and is incorporated as a 501 c 3, public charity. We are the philanthropic arm of the Academy and do not receive any portion of member dues. We are fully supported by donations.

Our Foundation works collaboratively with the Academy on issues that benefit the profession, including research, sustainability, hunger, and malnutrition. Our Foundation also shares office space and shared services with the Academy such as accounting, human resources, mailroom, web support, and high-level marketing.

FUNDRAISING

How does the Foundation raise money?

Our Foundation raises money from Academy members, affiliated organizations (CDR, ACEND, DPGs, MIGs, State Affiliates), industry and industry foundations through donations, grants, sponsorships, and events.

Where can donors designate their gift when contributing to the Foundation?

An individual and organization can designate its gift to:

- Annual Sustaining Fund
- Inclusion, Diversity, Equity, and Access Fund
- General Scholarship Fund
- General Research Fund
- Nutrition Education for the Public Fund
- Disaster Relief Fund
- Named Funds (typically an individual or organization establishes a fund with a minimum donation and will provide additional support when needed, however, there are times when other individuals will designate their donation to a particular named fund.)

Where should I direct my donation to have the greatest impact?

While all donors can designate their gift to a program or fund that resonates the most with them, donations to our Annual Sustaining Fund are used to support the fundraising and grant making activities of the Foundation and are also directed to the area of greatest, immediate need.

What is the easiest way to donate to the Foundation?

Academy members can contribute to our Foundation when renewing their Academy Member Dues online through a prompt asking if they would like to include an additional donation to our Foundation. All donations made through the member dues process go to support the Annual Sustaining Fund.

Key stat: A four-year average shows 1,690 Academy members typically give through this process each year, raising $53,329.07 per year with an average gift of $31.45.

Donors can also donate online by clicking on the a static green DONATE button on every page of the Foundation website in the upper right-hand corner. This leads to an online contribution form in the eatrightpro.org member website. Academy members must login in before accessing the form. When donating online thorough this form, you may indicate whether this is a onetime gift or an automatic recurring gift. Setting up an automatic recurring gift is an easy way to ensure donors' annual gifts are ongoing.

What are other ways Academy members can donate to the Foundation?

Key stat: Typically, each year, 5% to 6% of the Academy membership donates to the Foundation.

The Foundation's planned giving program exists as an option for donors to support the Foundation without detracting from their current income. The Foundation's planned giving program benefits the Foundation's annual fund, but gifts are also designated to specific named funds as part of the program. Donors who communicate their intent to include the Foundation in their estate plans are recognized as members of the I WILL Legacy Society.

Key stat: Over the past three years, we have secured nearly $1.3M through stock and estate gifts.

Can Non-members Donate to the Foundation?

Non-members and organizations can donate online to the Foundation on our Charity Navigator webpage. Our Foundation maintains a four-star rating with Charity Navigator which provides clear, objective, and reliable assessments of both the Financial Health and Accountability & Transparency of charities.

Our Foundation invests in the current and future generation of food and nutrition practitioners as the world's largest provider of dietetic scholarships, helping to grow a pool of student applicants, providing opportunities at all levels of experiential learning and helping to build a qualified and diverse workforce. We make an impact on students and professionals along their career path with scholarships that range from $500 to $10,000.

The amount awarded each year for scholarships, awards and grants are contingent of the previous year's fundraising efforts and current market conditions.

What is a named scholarship, award or grant fund and how are they established?

Our Foundation has more than 150 named scholarship, award and grant funds that have been established by individuals, DPG's, MIG's, Affiliates and Corporations to honor a group or an individual and may be established in the form of a scholarship, award (recognition honor, education stipend, lecture), fellowship or research grant.

There are two types of Name Funds: Temporarily Restricted and Endowed, depending on the donor's initial investment.

- Temporarily restricted funds are those funds that are not perpetual in duration and are intended to be totally expended for a specific purpose over some period. A temporarily restricted fund must be funded with at least $25,000.
- Endowment Funds (Permanently restricted) are those funds where up to 5% of the overall fund may be expended by the Academy Foundation. The minimum to establish a named endowment or permanently restricted fund is $100,000.

Complete information on how to establish these funds can be found here.

What is the Foundation Awards Program and its impact last year?

Leadership awards given to students, practitioners and faculty recognize the outstanding achievements of Academy members, encouraging individuals to grow as professionals and achieve excellence in new and developing areas of food and nutrition, as well as continuing education opportunities, assistance to international students and program development.

Key stat: In 2020, more than $68,000 was awarded to Academy members. Award amounts range from $150 to $30,000.

What is the Foundation Research Grants Program and its impact last year?

Key stat: In 2020, $86,000 was awarded to eight recipients. Grant amounts range from $1,000 to $20,000.

What is the process to apply and review award and grant applications?

Most Foundation awards and grants are made available on an annual basis in November of each year with a deadline in early February. However, other select Foundation grant and award applications may be made available throughout the year. The Foundation also offers a handful of nomination only awards without an application process, as well as providing funding for certain lectures at FNCE and state affiliate annual meetings. To be considered for an application-based Foundation award or grant, applicants must apply for the funding opportunity of interest within the Foundation's application portal. Additional information on Foundation awards and grants is provided at www.eatrightfoundation.org/awards and www.eatrightfoundation.org/grants respectively.

Individual review committees of three or more third-party, volunteer individuals are appointed to review applications for each application-based Foundation award and grant. The committees critically evaluate and score each application in adherence with scoring criteria developed for the funding opportunity.

To serve on a Foundation review committee, individuals must have experience related to the particular focus of the award or research and be either a current or retired practitioner, credentialed through CDR, or be an international or allied health professional whose experience would be valuable for the review process. Academy membership is preferred, but not required, to serve on Foundation award review committees and at least one representative of the Foundation is appointed to each Foundation award committee.

What is the process to apply and review scholarship applications?

The Foundation opens its general scholarship application on an annual basis for the upcoming academic year within the Foundation's application portal. The Foundation has more than 100 named scholarship funds each with its own eligibility criteria. Rather than requiring students to complete individual applications for each scholarship, Foundation staff automatically consider individuals who complete the general scholarship application for hundreds of Foundation scholarship opportunities. The application is made available in mid-February each year with a deadline in mid-April. Additional information on our scholarship program, eligibility criteria, important dates, and more is available at www.eatrightfoundation.org/scholarship.

All Foundation scholarship applications are randomly assigned to three scholarship reviewers. All individuals appointed to serve on the Foundation's scholarship selection committee are third-party volunteers. Selection committee members are required to be either a current or retired RDN or NDTR. Academy membership is preferred for service on the Foundation's scholarship selection committee. Committee members may serve for up to five consecutive years on the committee at a time. A chair is appointed each year from members of the committee with the most years of service.

The scholarship committee members evaluate and score applicants in the following categories: Scholarship/Academic Achievement, Professional Accomplishments to Date, Future Professional Potential, and Financial Need. Committee members are given detailed instructions for their scoring.

After the scoring has been completed, members of the scholarship committee participate in a live selection call where applicants are matched to their respective scholarships based on eligibility criteria, donor preferences, applicant total score, and reviewer impressions of individual applicants.

After recipients have been selected for each scholarship, Foundations staff rescreen all recipients and the Board Secretary audits a subset of randomly selected recipients to ensure adherence to each scholarship's respective eligibility criteria.

How does the Foundation assure Inclusion, Diversity, Equity and Access considerations in granting scholarships, awards, grants, and fellowships?

While individuals of diverse backgrounds and cultures are always encouraged to apply for all Foundation funding opportunities, the Foundation also has a portfolio of scholarship and award funds that are exclusively reserved for, or give preference to, individuals of diverse backgrounds and cultures. This portfolio of diversity funds has continued to grow since that time.

Since the events of Spring 2020, the Foundation has pursued opportunities to continue expansion of its diversity fund portfolio. Some new diversity funds established in the last year include:

- The creation of the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics Foundation Inclusion, Diversity, Equity, and Access Fund that is now accepting donations
- A scholarship fund which supports diverse students, particularly those with a disclosed physical or sensory impairment.
- A scholarship fund which supports diverse individuals completing their supervised practice programs.
- An award fund that supports the development of advancement in public policy among Academy member educators, which gives preference to Black applicants.
- A fund that supports both a continuing education award and a research grant for advancing the nutrition counseling process, both of which give preference to ethnically diverse individuals and those who employ a Health at Every Size approach.
- And a fellowship which will provide funding for a full-time, ethnically diverse Foundation fellow to expand upon current efforts to improve inclusion, diversity, equity and access within the dietetic educational pathway and profession.

Notably, the Foundation awarded $266,300 to ethnically diverse recipients in scholarships for the 2020-2021 academic year, which represented just under 43% of all scholarship funding issued. Additionally, an analysis of Foundation 2020 scholarship applicants and recipients revealed that ethnically diverse applicants were 1.24 times more likely to receive a scholarship in comparison to Caucasian/White applicants.

Key stat: Our Foundation awarded over $535,000 to 211 diverse recipients from 2017-2019.

Through the continued expansion of diverse funding opportunities, the Foundation aims to help address demographic disparities within the dietetics profession, ultimately contributing to the formation of a workforce that is as diverse and dynamic as the communities we serve.

What is the Foundation Fellowship Program?

Our Foundation collaborates with the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics' Research, International, and Scientific Affairs (RISA) team and other stakeholders and partners to create and offer fellowship opportunities for current and future credentialed food and nutrition practitioners at all career levels that advance the fellow's skills, knowledge, and visibility, hone the fellow's expertise, and advance the Foundation and Academy strategic plans. Complete information on all past and current fellows and their fellowships can be found here.

Key stat: Our Foundation has invested more than $1.2 million in its fellows over the last 9 years.

What are the Foundation's Public Nutrition Education Efforts?

Building upon its current initiatives, the Foundation continues to expand its programs, such as Kids Eat Right and Future of Food, which provide valuable information to the general public with resources for members including webinars, slide decks and handouts to deliver information in their communities.
